Taking service to a new level

Since 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service has engaged and supported the faculty, students and staff of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in meeting the needs of North Carolina and beyond. The Center strengthens the University’s public service commitment by promoting scholarship and service that are responsive to the concerns of the state and contribute to the common good.

In 2015, Scott MacDonald ’72 M.R.P. endowed the Scott D. MacDonald Community Service Scholarship Fund, which created the first cohort of Community Service Scholars. The program has grown and evolved as other generous donors have established additional scholarships within the program. CCPS is grateful to Scott MacDonald and all the donors who make this program possible.

Are you a Carolina student wanting to increase your knowledge and skills through public service?

The Carolina Center for Public Service offers Community Service Scholarships to offset tuition costs and provide a unique series of service-oriented programming.

@UNC_CCPS
ccps.unc.edu
Taking service to a new level

Since 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service has engaged and supported the faculty, students and staff of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in meeting the needs of North Carolina and beyond. The Center strengthens the University’s public service commitment by promoting scholarship and service that are responsive to the concerns of the state and contribute to the common good.

In 2015, Scott MacDonald ’72 M.R.P. endowed the Scott D. MacDonald Community Service Scholarship Fund, which created the first cohort of Community Service Scholars. The program has grown and evolved as other generous donors have established additional scholarships within the program. CCPS is grateful to Scott MacDonald and all the donors who make this program possible.

Are you a Carolina student wanting to increase your knowledge and skills through public service?

The Carolina Center for Public Service offers Community Service Scholarships to offset tuition costs and provide a unique series of service-oriented programming.

@UNC_CCPS
ccps.unc.edu
My participation in the program exposed me to public service opportunities I never knew existed. I cannot imagine any other opportunity that would have allowed me to grow in the manner I did throughout my years in this program.

– Hanan Alazzam ‘19

It’s everyone’s responsibility to do what they can to make the world a better place.

Through the MacDonald Community Fellowship, Finn Loendorf ’19 created a summer educational camp, in partnership with Boomerang in Chapel Hill. Called Full STEAM Ahead, the camp enabled underserved youth in the Chapel Hill area to spend a week trying out science experiments, creative writing and coding.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

As a Community Service Scholar, you receive a partial scholarship along with training, mentorship and support in pursuing your public service interests.

$5,000 annual scholarship, renewable for up to three years

Enrollment in the Buckley Public Service Scholars program, which includes skills trainings related to public service and a structure for tracking and reflecting on service

Completion of an average of 250 hours of service per year during your time in the program

A four-day leadership development course through the North Carolina Outward Bound School over fall break

Access to CCPS staff for mentoring and other forms of support

In your junior or senior year, you’ll matriculate into the MacDonald Community Fellowship program. In this fellowship, you’ll work with a community partner to identify a capstone service project to complete by the time you graduate. CCPS provides resources to help you develop and implement your project, including up to $1,500 for related costs.

ccps@unc.edu

my.participation.in.the.program.exposed.me.to.public.service.opportunities.i.never.knew.existed.i.cannot.imagine.any.other.opportunity.that.would.have.allowed.me.to.grow.in.the.manner.i.did.throughout.my.years.in.this.program.

– Hanan Alazzam ‘19
My participation in the program exposed me to public service opportunities I never knew existed. I cannot imagine any other opportunity that would have allowed me to grow in the manner I did throughout my years in this program.

– Hanan Alazzam ’19

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

As a Community Service Scholar, you receive a partial scholarship along with training, mentorship and support in pursuing your public service interests.

- $5,000 annual scholarship, renewable for up to three years
- Enrollment in the Buckley Public Service Scholars program, which includes skills trainings related to public service and a structure for tracking and reflecting on service
- Completion of an average of 250 hours of service per year during your time in the program
- A four-day leadership development course through the North Carolina Outward Bound School over fall break
- Access to CCPS staff for mentoring and other forms of support

In your junior or senior year, you’ll matriculate into the MacDonald Community Fellowship program. In this fellowship, you’ll work with a community partner to identify a capstone service project to complete by the time you graduate. CCPS provides resources to help you develop and implement your project, including up to $1,500 for related costs.

Through the MacDonald Community Fellowship, Finn Loendorf ’19 created a summer educational camp, in partnership with Boomerang in Chapel Hill. Called Full STEAM Ahead, the camp enabled underserved youth in the Chapel Hill area to spend a week trying out science experiments, creative writing and coding.

My participation in the program exposed me to public service opportunities I never knew existed. I cannot imagine any other opportunity that would have allowed me to grow in the manner I did throughout my years in this program.

– Hanan Alazzam ’19
My participation in the program exposed me to public service opportunities I never knew existed. I cannot imagine any other opportunity that would have allowed me to grow in the manner I did throughout my years in this program.

– Hanan Alazzam ’19

Through the MacDonald Community Fellowship, Finn Loendorf ’19 created a summer educational camp, in partnership with Boomerang in Chapel Hill. Called Full STEAM Ahead, the camp enabled underserved youth in the Chapel Hill area to spend a week trying out science experiments, creative writing and coding.

It’s everyone’s responsibility to do what they can to make the world a better place.

In your junior or senior year, you’ll matriculate into the MacDonald Community Fellowship program. In this fellowship, you’ll work with a community partner to identify a capstone service project to complete by the time you graduate. CCPS provides resources to help you develop and implement your project, including up to $1,500 for related costs.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

As a Community Service Scholar, you receive a partial scholarship along with training, mentorship and support in pursuing your public service interests.

$5,000 annual scholarship, renewable for up to three years

Enrollment in the Buckley Public Service Scholars program, which includes skills trainings related to public service and a structure for tracking and reflecting on service

Completion of an average of 250 hours of service per year during your time in the program

A four-day leadership development course through the North Carolina Outward Bound School over fall break

Access to CCPS staff for mentoring and other forms of support

ccps@unc.edu

ccps.unc.edu/bpss

My participation in the program exposed me to public service opportunities I never knew existed. I cannot imagine any other opportunity that would have allowed me to grow in the manner I did throughout my years in this program.

– Hanan Alazzam ’19
Taking service to a new level

Since 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service has engaged and supported the faculty, students and staff of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in meeting the needs of North Carolina and beyond. The Center strengthens the University’s public service commitment by promoting scholarship and service that are responsive to the concerns of the state and contribute to the common good.

In 2015, Scott MacDonald ‘72 M.R.P. endowed the Scott D. MacDonald Community Service Scholarship Fund, which created the first cohort of Community Service Scholars. The program has grown and evolved as other generous donors have established additional scholarships within the program. CCPS is grateful to Scott MacDonald and all the donors who make this program possible.

Are you a Carolina student wanting to increase your knowledge and skills through public service?

The Carolina Center for Public Service offers Community Service Scholarships to offset tuition costs and provide a unique series of service-oriented programming.

@UNC_CCPS
ccps.unc.edu

CAROLINA CENTER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

COMMUNITY SERVICE SCHOLARS

Taking service to a new level

UNC

CAROLINA CENTER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

COMMUNITY SERVICE SCHOLARS

Taking service to a new level

UNC

CAROLINA CENTER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

COMMUNITY SERVICE SCHOLARS

Taking service to a new level

UNC